Council transit vote 'helpful' to premier

McGuinty openly contradicts Ford, says he made it 'very clear' council support is a must

Ontario Premier Dalton McGuinty has hit the brakes on Toronto Mayor Rob Ford's subway ambitions as the mayor vows to take his fight to the court of public opinion.

That sets the stage for a continued clash over the city's transit future, with McGuinty saying Thursday he's obligated to consider council's stunning Wednesday-night vote to revive plans for light-rail lines.

McGuinty also thanked Toronto council for ending the "limbo."

"That is very helpful to us. Folks at Metrolinx will now sit down with the city and see if we can come to an understanding," he said.

The province, which is giving Toronto $8.4 billion for transit expansion, can't consider council's latest vision until an expert panel's report on the future of light rail or a subway for Sheppard Avenue East, due by March 31.

Police didn't need to shoot man: Witness

The anguished renovator who alerted police to a dazed man clad in a hospital gown lurking in the backyard of an east-end house last Friday says police did not need to kill him.

"From what I saw, this was uncalled for. There was no need to shoot him," said Vince, who wouldn't reveal his full name. "I don't want the family to know it was me. I feel responsible. I'm still struggling to cope."

The renovator's remorse has led him to break his silence about the shooting of 29-year-old Michael Eligon, an event he saw unfold in front of him on Milverton Boulevard, near Coxwell and Danforth avenues, at 10:15 a.m.

The province's Special Investigations Unit, the police watchdog, is probing the case and could lay criminal charges against the officer who fired the shots.

"It seems the victim didn't have a chance," the renovator said. "If he did something bad, like kill somebody, then I could understand. I thought there could have been pepper spray or a Taser. Or shoot him in the leg."

Eligon was wielding what is believed to be two pairs of scissors after fleeing Toronto East General Hospital about four blocks away.

A clerk at a convenience store near the hospital suffered a small cut on his hand prior to that fatal shooting, and an officer suffered minor injuries at the scene. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Pastor acquitted of sex assault

Bizarre sex scandal within Toronto's Jesus First Church concluded Thursday with ruling

They were a small congregation, a family of sorts, never more than a few dozen members filing into church for Sunday service.

The apparent closeness of the worshippers made it all the more shocking when 10 were slapped with a torrent of charges ranging from forcible confinement to gang rape.

The alleged victims were women they prayed with, shared meals with. The list of charges was enormous: 485 in one case and a single charge in a separate case against the church's founder and spiritual leader, Pastor Jae-Kap Song.

In the end, not a single conviction.

In her decision, Justice Katherine van Rensburg said that while it is possible events occurred the way the complainant described them, the Crown did not prove its case beyond a reasonable doubt.

"The expression 'Where there's smoke, there's fire' has no place" in legal analysis in a criminal court, the judge said. "Although in this case it could be said there is plenty of smoke," she added.

Members of the church, mostly young Korean females who are all supporters of Pastor Song, filled two benches in court on Thursday. They smiled and held hands as the decision was read. One woman, overcome by emotion, cried and shook as she walked out of the courtroom. Several of the women present were alleged victims of assault by other church members.

Song's accuser did not attend. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Fundraising activity of officers investigated

Toronto police have launched an investigation into the fundraising activities of two officers who said they were collecting money for Sgt. Ryan Russell's trust fund.

The officers, who work at 52 Division, were selling $20 T-shirts with the promise that the money would go to the trust fund created for the young son of Russell, 35, who was killed in January 2011 after being run over by a stolen snowplow.

Both officers, constables Stephen Birtles and Lisa Hayford, belong to the chief's ceremonial unit, which played a key role in Russell's funeral, attended by 12,000 officers and service workers from across North America.

CUPE 416 ratification vote set for Monday

The City of Toronto and the union representing its outside workers have put the finishing touches today on a tentative agreement reached on Sunday that averted a work stoppage.

That clears the way for CUPE Local 416 members to vote on Monday whether to accept the deal.

President Mark Ferguson says he and his bargaining team will be recommending the workers vote to ratify the agreement, noting the "exceptional circumstances."

'Two for the price of one'

Brother-trustee candidates offer voters a deal if elected in byelection

Here's the deal: If elected as trustees in upcoming byelections, the Harrison brothers are promising to each donate half their yearly salary to their schools and communities.

Running for two vacant trustee seats in the Feb. 27 Toronto District School Board byelections, both Scott and Sean-Michael Harrison say voters can get "two for the price of one" — pledging roughly $12,000 each a year for the next three years of the term, or about $72,000.

Toronto trustees are paid an honorarium of about $25,000, from which some tax is deducted.

Scott Harrison, a firefighter who served three terms in Scarborough Centre before losing the last municipal election, said "we want to get the message out there that we are willing to invest in the community."

The community would decide how the money is spent, he added.

Sean-Michael Harrison, the younger of the two, is a Toronto police officer who has run for trustee before. Scott Harrison is hoping to be elected in Scarborough-Agincourt; Sean-Michael in Don Valley East.

Their father is the late Coun. Brian Harrison, who started out as a Scarborough school trustee.

The byelections, forced after Michael Coteau and Soo Wong were elected as MPPs, attracted 31 candidates total in the two ridings.

- "Sons and brothers following in their father's footsteps is not a new phenomenon in politics. Just look at our City of Toronto Mayor and his brother, Rob and Doug Ford," said the brothers' press release.
- "Just as their father Doug Sr. represented Etobicoke, Scott and Sean-Michael's father represented Scarborough for more than 35 years. It's the next generation in community service."

Deficit fight could fuel labour unrest: McGuinty

Premier Dalton McGuinty is warning of possible labour strife as he takes aim at public-sector wages to curb the province's $16-billion deficit.

And McGuinty signalled that Ontario will be fighting for a fairer shake from Ottawa as it struggles to balance the books by 2017-2018.

The premier used a lunch speech here Thursday to issue one of his strongest warnings yet that civil servants won't escape the province's looming belt-tightening.

With $55 billion a year going to salaries — half of the province's annual spending — McGuinty said any effort to rein in spending must include wages.

"We need to slow government spending down. It won't be easy, but it is absolutely necessary," McGuinty said.

"It is simply not possible to reduce spending without addressing salary expenditures," he said.

And he suggested tough talks ahead as Queen's Park engages with provincial employees

While he said the cost-cutting exercise would respect collective bargaining with Ontario's unionized workers, he wouldn't promise it would be smooth sailing.

Housing costs ballooning

On average, TCHC buildings are roughly 40 years old

The cost of fixing Toronto Community Housing's nearly 60,000 units has risen to a whopping $750 million, TCHC officials say.

The latest figure — up from last year's $650 million — is the result of new repair needs outpacing the housing corporation's ability to pour money into improvements, it says.

TCHC invested $72 million in capital repairs to multi-unit buildings last year, but says that amount was surpassed by $173 million in new repair needs that emerged from its aging buildings.

Without new money, the shortfall is expected to keep rising by $100 million a year. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Highrises eyed for families in need

Habitat for Humanity is well known for helping low-income families move into detached homes built with the help of volunteers.

Now, given the limited supply of land in Toronto, the international charity is looking to expand into condominiums, with an ingenious proposal aimed at helping developers provide units at a reduced cost to needy families.

Currently, condo developers can seek the city's permission to build more units than would otherwise be permitted, in return for providing cash for community enhancements under Section 37 of the Planning Act. Builders of condo towers can end up paying $1 million or $2 million under Section 37, which funds items such as parks or library improvements.

"In the downtown, you need strategies to get more affordable housing for service workers, so they're not travelling from Malvern to get to work." COUN. ADAM VAUGHAN

Instead, in a proposal to be discussed at next week's meeting of the city planning committee, Habitat suggests allowing developers to sell units to Habitat at lower cost, with the difference between the sale price and market value counting as the developer's Section 37 contribution.

Canadian sailors rescued at sea

MARCO GARCIA/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

▶ West James with his father, Bradley.

Three Albertan family members attempting their first voyage across the Pacific in a sailboat were left adrift in rough seas hundreds of miles from land when their mast broke in high winds.

Just when they thought they were being rescued, seven hours later, the swell from the arriving cargo ship capsized the smaller vessel, tossing the trio into the cold water.

"If one bad thing goes wrong, it just seems like it gets worse and worse and worse," Mitchell James, 29, the owner of the sailboat, told Hawaii News Now, "and that's what happened."

As the sailboat was destroyed, Mitchell's nephew West James, 9, prepared for the worst.

"'We're gonna die,'" the boy said, according to his father, Bradley James, 32.

Bradley said Thursday he tried to keep his son calm as they were in the Pacific for about two hours.

All three arrived in Honolulu aboard the containership early Thursday.

Internet safe from lawsuit

The Internet was saved in a Texas courtroom Thursday after a protracted three-year legal battle.

A $600-million patent-infringement lawsuit launched by a tiny tech company against eight of the world's biggest corporations, including Google, Yahoo, Amazon and YouTube, ended after a three-day trial in sleepy Tyler, Texas.

Patents on "the interactive web" belonging to Eolas Technologies were declared invalid by a jury. And, with that, the threat to future of the online innovation, as feared by Tim Berners-Lee (one of the so-called fathers of the Internet) is over.

The defence claimed the Eolas software was predated by another plug-in-enabled browser.

Footage of boy goes viral Dad says it was a lesson for his son

Home video of a four-year-old Chinese boy forced to run through the snow on a cold January day in New York City in just his underpants and shoes has sparked outrage online.

The short video shows the boy running towards his parents down a street, crying and calling out to them to pick him up. On a number of occasions, both parents are heard laughing and urging him to lie down in the snow, which he eventually does.

His father said that he wasn't trying to punish his son, but train him to develop a "masculine temperament."

"He agreed to go out to run in the snow naked or else it wouldn't be possible for me to take his clothes off," said the dad, a businessman from the eastern city of Nanjing. "He wasn't very happy when he felt the cold."

His assistant Xin Lijuan told AFP that the family was in New York for the Chinese Lunar New Year.

McCartney's voice mail hacked, ex-wife says

Paul McCartney's ex-wife challenged CNN celebrity interviewer Piers Morgan's version of the truth Thursday at the British phone-hacking inquiry.

Heather Mills said she "never ever" gave Morgan permission to listen to voice messages McCartney had left for her begging her to come home and asking for her forgiveness.

McCartney even "sang a little ditty" from one of his songs, she said.

Testifying under oath, she also said someone had listened to the string of voice mail messages the former Beatle left her before she did.

When she first listened to "about 25" messages left overnight by McCartney, they were saved, but no longer "new."

A "former employee of the Trinity Mirror Group" of newspapers called her that same day in 2001 to ask about her argument with McCartney and knew "that he had sung a song down the phone line," she said.

"I told him that the only way he could have known this was to have listened to my voice mail and he simply laughed," Mills told the inquiry.

"The only way anybody could have known about them or heard them is to have listened to them when they were on my voice mail messaging service system."

That included Morgan, she said. There were no recordings of McCartney's messages beyond her cellphone.

Morgan, when he was editor of the tabloid Daily Mirror, has written that he "was played a tape of a message Paul had left for Heather on her mobile phone."

Testifying before the inquiry last year, Morgan refused to say where the recording came from.

Canada and China set table for trade

Harper hints Canada ready to take economic relationship to next level

Canada

A new poll suggests Canadians want China's help driving the economy, but don't want China in the driver's seat.

- Money. In the Canadian Press-Harris Decima survey, 51 per cent of Canadians polled welcomed Chinese investment.
- Ownership. But 49 per cent of those polled feel Chinese companies taking over an existing foreign-owned company operating in Canada is bad or very bad.

A raft of agreements between Canada and China may see the two countries ready to set sail on free-trade talks.

But even as Chinese Premier Wen Jiabao appeared ready to jump on that ship, Trade Minister Ed Fast was already backpedalling away from the possibility that Canada is ready for a trade deal that could revolutionize the economy.

The spectre of a free-trade deal was raised as the two countries released a joint statement committing to complete an joint economic study by May.

That paves the way, Prime Minister Stephen Harper said, to move the economic relationship to the next level.

CANADA'S PANDA-MONIUM

The Calgary Zoo says it's getting excited to roll out the welcome mat for two Chinese pandas.

Zoo spokeswoman Laurie Skene says China has agreed to lend Canada two pandas for 10 years.

The animals will divide their time equally between the Toronto and Calgary zoos, though it's not known which city they'll visit first or what age the pandas will be.

9 jailed over bomb plot

Men pleaded guilty to al-Qaida-inspired plans Handwritten list at one man's house had address for London mayor, U.S. Embassy, two rabbis

A British judge on Thursday sent nine men to prison for al-Qaida-inspired plots to bomb the London Stock Exchange and set up a terrorist training camp.

The British Muslims all pleaded guilty last week as their trial was due to begin at London's Woolwich Crown Court.

Mohammed Chowdhury, 21, Shah Rahman, 28, Gurukanth Desai, 30, and Abdul Miah, 25, admitted planning to plant a homemade bomb in the stock exchange toilets. Two others admitted lesser charges.

The prosecution accepted that the men, who were arrested in December 2010, intended to spread "terror and economic harm and disruption" rather than to kill, and had not constructed any bombs.

But they discussed attacking high-profile targets, and a handwritten list found at Chowdhury's home contained the addresses of London Mayor Boris Johnson, the Dean of St. Paul's Cathedral, two rabbis, the U.S. Embassy and the stock exchange.

Judge Alan Wilkie said the defendants should be regarded as dangerous. He sentenced the six men to between five years and 16 years, 10 months.

Three other defendants admitted planning to set up a terrorist training camp in Pakistan.

They were given "indeterminate," or open-ended, sentences.

Wilkie said Mohammed Shahjahan, 27, Usman Khan, 20, and Nazam Hussain, 26 — all from the central England city of Stoke-on-Trent — "regarded themselves as more serious jihadis than the others."

He said the three men planned to set up and run a terrorist training camp in Pakistan, from which they and others would return "as trained and experienced terrorists available to perform terrorist attacks in this country."

Terror plot

- The nine defendants, from London, Cardiff and Stoke, were brought together through radical Islamist groups, and nurtured plans to attack high-profile targets.
- Prosecutors said the men were not members of al-Qaida, but were inspired by the terror network and the sermons of its Yemen-based, American-born cleric Anwar al-Awlaki, who was killed last year in a U.S. drone strike.
- British authorities learned of their plotting and put the men under surveillance before arresting them.
- Deputy Assistant Commissioner Stuart Osborne, the national police counter-terrorism commander, said the "significant and complex" operation had involved 1,000 police officers and staff.

Greece gets closer to earning bailout

Not long after Greece made the politically unpopular decision to slash government spending to ease its debt crisis, Germany's finance minister questioned whether the deal goes far enough to earn approval of a crucial $171-billion US bailout.

Greece's new austerity plan would make deep cuts to jobs and wages, and it ignited fresh criticism from unions and the country's labour minister, who resigned in protest. Finance ministers from the 17 countries that use the euro are meeting in Brussels to scrutinize the plan.

Greek Prime Minister Lucas Papademos said on Thursday that all major party leaders in the country's coalition government had given their backing to a new round of painful spending cuts he had worked out with the European Union, the European Central Bank and the International Monetary Fund and that the talks "were successfully concluded."

However Germany's Finance Minister Wolfgang Schaeuble on Thursday warned that the new round of spending cuts appears to not yet fulfil all the conditions for a bailout.

Greece needs the bailout by March 20 to redeem $19 billion worth of bonds coming due.

Financial fears

- A forced bankruptcy would likely lead to the country's exit from the euro common currency, a situation that European officials have insisted is impossible because it would hurt other weak countries such as Portugal, Ireland and Italy.
- But financial analysts fear a chain reaction similar to the financial meltdown triggered by the collapse of investment bank Lehman Brothers in the fall of 2008.

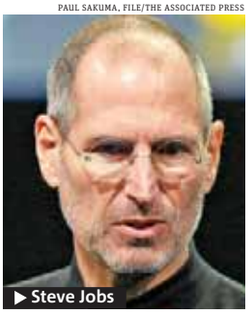
FBI files reveal dark side of Jobs

Documents say Apple founder was power-hungry, dishonest Secret report now being shared with public

PAUL SAKUMA, FILE/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS



▶ Steve Jobs

FBI background interviews of some people who knew Apple co-founder Steve Jobs reveal a man driven by power and alienating some of the people who worked with him.

In the FBI documents released Thursday, many of those who knew Jobs praised him, speaking highly of Jobs' character and integrity and asserting that he always conducted his business dealings in a reputable manner. They recommended him for a post during the George H.W. Bush administration.

The 1991 interviews were part of a background check for an appointment to the President's Export Council.

The U.S. Commerce Department confirmed Thursday that Jobs did serve on the council during the first Bush administration.

Export council members serve in an unpaid capacity and meet at least twice a year, advising the president on trade policy.

One person told FBI agents the Apple co-founder's enormous power caused him to lose sight of honesty and integrity, leading him to distort the truth.

Another interview subject described Jobs to the FBI as a deceptive person – someone who was not totally forthright and honest, and as having a tendency to distort reality in order to achieve his goals.

And an ex-business associate who had a falling out with Jobs said that, while honest and trustworthy, Jobs nonetheless had questionable moral character.

Man pleads guilty to South Park threats

A Muslim convert from Brooklyn pleaded guilty Thursday to using a website he founded to post online threats against the creators of the South Park television show and others he deemed enemies of Islam.

In court papers filed Thursday with his guilty plea, Jesse Curtis Morton, 33, admitted that his now-defunct Revolution Muslim website served as an outlet for al-Qaida propaganda, and that he used the site to post thinly veiled threats against South Park creators Matt Stone and Trey Parker and others Morton believed to be against Islam.

ISPs not broadcasters, Supreme Court rules

- Internet providers are only vehicles for content
- Not required to contribute to Canadian broadcasting

Canada's Internet service providers — such as Rogers and Bell — should not be treated as broadcasters under the law, the Supreme Court of Canada agreed Thursday.

The Federal Court of Appeal ruled in 2010 that ISPs are not subject to the Broadcasting Act, and the top court dismissed an appeal of that ruling.

At the heart of both decisions was the concept that an Internet service provider is not involved in broadcast content.

"When providing access to the Internet ... (the ISPs) do not take part in the selection, origination, or packaging of the content," the justices wrote in a unanimous judgment.

They emphasized that an entity or company has to do more than simply provide access to broadcasting for it to fall under the Broadcasting Act.

The issue of whether Internet service providers have responsibilities to the broadcasting industry writ large has been debated since 2008, when the federal telecom and broadcasting regulator reiterated it would not subject ISPs to regulations.

Some groups argued that ISPs should be contributing financially to the creation of Canadian content.

The Canadian Radio-television and Telecommunications Commission referred the matter to the Federal Court of Appeal.

When that court said no, groups representing actors, producers, directors and writers appealed to the Supreme Court.

Broadcast views

- The major cable and satellite companies, such as Bell Canada and Rogers Communications, opposed the idea of their ISPs being considered broadcasters.
- But there is one caveat for the ISPs: The Federal Court of Appeal warned that if ISPs actively begin to make content decisions and lose their neutrality, they might indeed be subject to the Broadcasting Act.

"The 2012 Camry Hybrid LE, with overall 4.7 L/100 km, is superior to the Kia/Hyundai/Ford hybrids, and the upgraded 2012 version will also wax the Fusion and Sonata Hybrid in a drag race."

- David Booth, The National Post

When we say that the all-new 2012 Toyota Camry Hybrid is the best choice in its class, we're saying it for good reason. As you'd expect from Toyota, its class-leading city fuel consumption rating of 4.5L/100km, combined fuel consumption rating of 4.7L/100KM and 2.5 Litre 200-horsepower engine give you both fuel savings and incredible off-the-line power. It also has 371 Litres of cargo space and standard 10 airbags – which is a lot more than the competition can say.

Iran tops U.S. list of worries

American ally Israel driving much of the attention on the likelihood of an Iranian bomb and what to do about it

SAUL LOEB/GETTY IMAGES

▶ Barack Obama

The prospect of conflict with Iran has eclipsed Afghanistan as the key U.S. security issue with head-spinning speed. After years of bad blood and an international impasse over Iran's disputed nuclear program, why does the threat of war seem so suddenly upon us?

The short answer is that Iran has used the years of deadlock over whether it was pursuing a bomb to get within roughly 12 months of being able to build one. Iran claims its nuclear program is not aimed at building a bomb, but it has refused to drop suspect elements of the program.

Time is running short for Iran to back down without a fight. Time is also running short for either the United States or Israel to mount a preemptive military strike on Iran's nuclear sites, something that seemed far-fetched until fairly recently. It is still unlikely, and for the U.S. represents the last worst option to stop an Iranian bomb.

The United States has a "very good estimate" of when Iran could produce a weapon, President Barack Obama said this week. He said that while he believes the standoff with Iran over its nuclear program can still be resolved through diplomacy, the U.S. has done extensive planning on a range of options.

"We are prepared to exercise these options should they arise," Obama said during an interview with NBC. He said Israel has not made a decision about whether to launch its own strike. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Thank you for talking Canada!

On Bell Let's Talk Day, you really spoke up to help break the stigma around mental illness, a stigma that keeps too many Canadians from seeking help. I'm very proud to be part of the conversation with you that is doing so much to promote mental health across our great country.

Bell and Bell Aliant customers helped top last year's Bell Let's Talk Day record, with a total of 78,520,284 text messages, retweets and long distance calls made. Bell's donation of 5¢ for each of these texts, retweets and calls means the company will be committing $3,926,014.20 more to the Bell Let's Talk mental health initiative.

Hamilton, Quebec City NHL contenders?

Success of recently relocated Winnipeg Jets proves team can do well in smaller market, says co-author of new report

Can you picture the NHL with nine Canadian franchises?

The Conference Board of Canada can, and Thursday morning the Ottawa-based economic think tank issued a report explaining that demographic and economic trends leave Canada with two clear cut NHL contenders — Hamilton and Quebec City.

The report points out that the Hamilton and Quebec City areas have the same population base as metropolitan Winnipeg — roughly 750,000 people — but stresses both cities are still growing, ensuring a steady supply of fans should the NHL decide to move there.

The subject of exactly how many NHL teams Canada can support fascinates fans, media and economists from across the country, and last spring researchers from the University of Toronto's Mowat Centre for Policy innovation suggested 12 franchises could thrive here.

Thursday's report is the 12th in the conference board's Playing in the Big Leagues series, which examines the factors influencing the pro sports industry in Canada.

And according to the report, the chief factor affecting the NHL's viability in Quebec City and Hamilton is population.

Several other factors affect a city's ability to sustain an NHL franchise, the report says, including disposable income and the presence of corporations in the area. The report says Hamilton and Quebec City score high in both areas.

Rumours

- Rumours have swirled that the NHL-owned Phoenix Coyotes might move, but their most talked-about landing spot is Seattle, where the NHL has never had a franchise.

But whether NHL teams will actually soon settle in either city is still pure speculation.

The last round of expansion came in 2000-2001, when the addition of the Minnesota Wild and Atlanta Thrashers grew the league to 30 teams. After last season the Thrashers moved to Winnipeg, where the resurrected Jets franchise averages 15,004 for home games, which is a sellout crowd at Nationwide Arena.

Group struggles to count number of dead

The Britain-based Syrian Observatory for Human Rights and the Local Coordination Committees (LCC) were trying to compile numbers and names of those killed Thursday. The LCC, an activist group, said up to 100 people were killed in Homs, but the toll was impossible to verify. Activists also reported violence in the towns of Zabadani and Daraa.

The international community is searching for new diplomatic approaches to stop the protracted conflict. The Syrian government blames the unrest on a foreign conspiracy by Israel and the West.

63 The Syrian Observatory for Human Rights reported 63 deaths in Homs, Syria.

The uprising began with mostly peaceful protests but has transformed into an armed insurgency. The UN estimates the death toll to be more than 5,400.

Worst attack on Homs since uprising began in March: Activists

Between blasts of rockets and mortar fire, Syrians used loudspeakers to call for blood donations and medical supplies Thursday in the stricken city of Homs, where a weeklong government offensive has created a deepening humanitarian crisis.

Government forces are trying to crush pockets of violent resistance in Homs, the epicentre of an 11-month-old uprising that has brought the country ever closer to civil war. The intense shelling in restive neighbourhoods such as Baba Amr has made it difficult to get medicine and care to the wounded, and some areas have been without electricity for days, activists say.

"Anything that moves, even a bird, is targeted. Life is completely cut off. It's a city of ghosts," Abu Muhammad Ibrahim, an activist in Homs, told The Associated Press by phone.

Hundreds of people are believed to have been killed since Saturday. Human Rights Watch said eyewitness accounts and video reviewed by the group's arms experts suggest Syrian government forces are using long-range, indirect fire weapons such as mortars.

Makeshift hospitals and clinics are overwhelmed, with fears that the city could soon run out of supplies. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Marine Corps tells it to the world: Unit did pose with Nazi-like logo

Photo offends former Marines • Military Religious Freedom Foundation calls for investigation • U.S. Marine Corps says it has addressed issue

The U.S. Marine Corps confirmed Thursday that a sniper team in Afghanistan posed for a photograph in front of a flag with a logo resembling that of the notorious Nazi SS.

Use of the SS symbol is not acceptable, and the Marine Corps has addressed the issue, Lt. Col. Stewart Upton said in a statement. He did not specify what action was taken.

Upton said the Marines in the photograph, posted on an Internet blog, are no longer with the unit. The picture was taken in September 2010 in Sangin province, Afghanistan.

The Military Religious Freedom Foundation in Washington said it was outraged and wants a full investigation.

Mikey Weinstein with the foundation said he has been flooded with calls from former Marines offended by the photo and from one member of his organization who is an Auschwitz survivor.

"This needs to be fully investigated. This is a complete and total outrage," he said.

Weinstein said his organization was sending a letter to the head of the Marine Corps and U.S. Defense Secretary Leon Panetta.

Master Gunnery Sgt. Mark Oliva, a spokesman at Camp Pendleton, Calif., said the photo was brought to the attention of the I Marine Expeditionary Force inspector general in November, and he found there was no intent on the part of the Marines to identify themselves with a racist organization.

Oliva said the investigation found that the SS symbol was meant to identify the Marines as scout snipers, not Nazis, but it was nonetheless not acceptable.

This is the second time this year the Marine Corps has had to do damage control for its troops' actions.

The Marine Corps is also investigating a separate group of Marines recorded on video urinating on the dead bodies of Taliban fighters.

Indian ministers' porn clip in high demand

The porn clip that three government ministers are accused of watching in a state assembly in southern India is highly sought-after, according to the Times of India.

People are going to adult video stores across Bangalore in droves asking for the "ministers' MMS masala" video.

Video dealers tell the Times the video isn't yet available on DVD, but that may change soon due to the high demand.

"We're trying to get hold of the video as soon as possible," a dealer told the Times.

Sharing our pride. Shaping our future.

Act now!

Did you know that dental assistants in eight provinces have been regulated since the '70s?

The Ontario government has agreed to consider the regulation of Ontario dental assistants and HPRAC (Health Professionals Regulatory Advisory Council) is now in the consultation period. You have until February 24 to provide feedback.

This is your opportunity to show your support for the regulation of Ontario dental assistants. Visit www.hprac.org, and select "Dental Assistants" under "Current Ministerial Referrals". Scroll down to "How to Submit Your Feedback".

When regulation is passed all dental assistants will be required to obtain a formal education to work in a dental office – rather than being trained on the job.

Regulation will mean that you can be completely confident everyone at your dentist's office is properly educated to protect your health and safety.

Together we can ensure that Ontario families continue to receive the highest level of safe dental care.

Androgynous model still causing a stir

Andrej Pejic among industry's most recognizable, controversial faces Fashion week in New York City

On a chilly winter afternoon, Andrej Pejic settles into a Manhattan café with a cup of Earl Grey tea, sitting gracefully, long legs crossed. The blue-eyed fashion model gazes out a window, unaware that almost every man sitting at surrounding tables is transfixed.

A man in a black leather jacket walks up to the window, presses his face against the glass and kisses it. Pejic giggles and admits: "I find it flattering."

The admirers are likely unaware that the beautiful blond is actually a man.

"He's just this beautiful thing that everyone wants a piece of," says stylist Kyle Anderson, who dressed Pejic for a German magazine cover.

He has the kind of face that makes even the vainest woman jealous: high cheekbones, flawless skin and plump, shapely lips. When he speaks, his ever-so-slight Adam's apple is the first sign of his masculinity.

Though Pejic isn't trying to be a woman, many in the transgender community have already claimed him as their own. He is seen as a bit of a maverick, someone who has embraced his sexuality without any need for explanation or justification. Last year, the gay and lesbian magazine Out named him "stylemaker of the year" and put him on its cover wearing a bridal veil and flowers in his hair.

GIRLFRIEND ADOPTION

Critics pan millionaire's adoption plan

A millionaire polo mogul in Florida is raising eyebrows with his decision to adopt his 42-year-old girlfriend.

Critics of 48-year-old John Goodman say the move is simply an attempt to protect some of his fortune when a lawsuit against him goes to trial later this year.

Goodman is accused of drunken-driving manslaughter in the death of a fellow motorist. He faces a criminal trial that could send him to prison and a civil case brought against him by the victim's family.

He has a trust fund for his two underage children that would be shielded if the verdict in the lawsuit goes against him. After he adopted his girlfriend, he named her a beneficiary of the trust fund, too.

Shark attracts controversy

Pakistani merchant fights police over right to charge spectators

Qasim Khan waged the unlikeliest of battles with Pakistani authorities Thursday over the right to charge hundreds of curious visitors the equivalent of 22 cents each to see a roughly 40-foot whale shark he bought from a fisherman.

Khan paid about $2,200 US on Tuesday for the 20-ton behemoth, which was discovered dead in the Arabian Sea off Karachi.

Business was brisk Wednesday, as several thousand people paid to see the brown- and white-spotted shark. But police cracked down Thursday, saying fishery authorities had decided people should be allowed to see the shark for free. Khan resisted and hid his prize attraction under the giant piece of green cloth he had previously used as a tent.

Brazil takes steps toward censorship of tweets

An attempt to block Twitter users from alerting drivers to police roadblocks, radar traps and drunk-driving checkpoints could make Brazil the first country to take Twitter up on its plans to censor content at governments' requests.

About two weeks ago, Twitter unveiled plans to allow country-specific censorship of tweets that might break local laws.

An official at the federal prosecutor's office in Goias state Thursday said that as far as he knows no other country has yet tried to get Twitter to block tweets. He declined to be identified because he was not authorized to speak to the press.

A spokesman for the federal prosecutor's office said the injunction request was filed Feb. 6.

More than 40 people, including a two-year-old Canadian girl, have suffered second-degree burns from malfunctioning Tassimo coffee makers or exploding discs, prompting a recall across North America, authorities say.

Two separate Kraft Foods Canada recalls involve 900,000 Bosch-brand Tassimo coffee makers and two million Gevalia and Nabob espresso T-Discs in Canada.

Another 835,000 Bosch-brand Tassimo coffee makers and two million T-Discs are being recalled in the U.S.

The malfunctioning coffee makers can spray people with hot liquid, coffee grounds or tea leaves because of the way an insert is holding the single-serving discs.

In a separate problem, certain types of the discs themselves can clog and burst, also spraying people with hot liquid or grounds.

Health Canada reported 37 people in the U.S. and Canada suffered second-degree burns from malfunctioning coffee makers alone and another four from exploding discs.

Authorities declined to reveal the condition of the burned two-year-old Canadian girl.

Debt down, but savings struggle: RBC

The Royal Bank says Canadians are managing to pare down their debt load but most haven't got any savings set aside for a rainy day.

The bank says its study found personal debt down to $11,729 from $13,020 last quarter.

But respondents also said 46 per cent feel they are "standing still" when it comes to their personal finances compared to last year.

Almost a third said they intend to focus on reducing debt and spending less.

New apps flirt with romance

Introverted? There's an app for that — an array of handy virtual pickup lines are as close as your phone

Flirting is an art. Unless, of course, you're out clubbing with Ryan Gosling.

But if you're not on the town with Hollywood's latest Homme Fatal, you might need help breaking the ice, and there are apps for that.

The current, cutest flirting app is called iFlirt4u, which, depending on your flirting skill level, might amusingly be used from across a table or the length of a bar.

iFlirt4u offers a menu of 12 lines, including: "You Are Hot," "Hey Cutie, Come Over Here." and "What's your #?"

The charm of the app is that once you choose a message to send, the words pop up individually and perfectly timed, in large white letters against a black background.

▶ Ryan Gosling

Wry expression not included.

Married? No problem. The next time you and the spouse are channel-surfing on the couch, pull out the smartphone, open the app and choose Kiss Me Now.

There's also How to Flirt, from wikiHow, which offers this sage advice: "If you always go into flirting expecting to date or even marry the person you're flirting with, you're going to be very disappointed — and you'll probably seem a little desperate. Remember, you're just flirting."

A strike mandate would put the airline's 3,000 pilots in a legal strike position early on Feb. 17,

How much is your insurance loyalty costing you?

Consumers shouldn't let loyalty get in the way of savings

Yes it's true, insurance costs seem to be rising everywhere you look and like most consumers, you worry that switching insurance companies means losing your "loyalty discount." The truth is that switching insurance companies may cause you to lose your loyalty discount (if you had one in the first place), but that doesn't necessarily mean you'll pay more for car insurance or that you can't save a bundle in the end. The fact is, some insurance companies may provide a small discount on your premium if you've been with them for a long time – but that small discount can quickly become irrelevant if another company has a rate for you that is significantly less than what you're currently paying. After all, what good is 5% off of an annual rate of $1,500 (a $75 savings) if you could pay $1,100 (a $400 savings) with another company?

The rates charged by different insurance companies to insure the same driver, with the same car, for the exact same coverage, can vary by hundreds and even thousands of dollars. And with so many insurance companies providing car insurance in Ontario, odds are you are not currently insured with the company that offers the best rate for your driving profile. Insurance quoting sites like InsuranceHotline.com can help by providing an independent, unbiased rate comparison from its network of over 30 insurance companies to find you a lower rate available for your profile.

Sadly, the misguided fear of repercussions from their current insurer is what keeps many consumers from taking action and shopping around. The truth is that your insurance company has no way of knowing if you are shopping around for a better rate. In fact, even if they did know you were checking out your options, you cannot be penalized in any way for trying to find a better deal. So don't let loyalty get in your way of shopping for a lower insurance rate.

LOYALTY TO YOUR PARTNER IS GOOD.
LOYALTY TO YOUR INSURER ISN'T.

Have you lost faith in your current insurance provider? Now save hundreds – even thousands – by shopping around for auto insurance. All without affecting your coverage. We've harnessed the search power of the internet to offer you choice. It's fast, free and easy to use, with absolutely no obligation. Then your loyalty can be requited.

1 Hosers in heaps: Canada's population is the fastest-growing of all G8 nations. Census 2011 revealed a growth of two million over the last five years. The fastest-growing region is the West, which means, I guess, we have to brace ourselves for a lot more country music.

2 Off The Record: Michael Landsberg's poignant documentary about depression aired on CTV this week. Darkness and Hope includes confessions from successful athletes who dispel the myths relating the illness to weakness or failure. Ironically, it depressed me a little, but I applaud all involved for the courage to bear their souls for the benefit of millions. Thanks, Michael.

3 Time out: For those contemplating a warm-weather getaway, one of the most popular new hot spots seems to be Panama City. Least popular? Damascus.

4 And speaking of Damascus: Vladimir Putin, the "hall monitor" of the Middle East, warned against outside forces meddling in Syria's affairs. He says, "We must not behave like a bull in a china shop." He's right. Especially when the bull that's already in there has broken most of the china himself.

5 Seeing is believing: Season 2 of The Voice premiered this week. It differs from other star-finder shows because judges choose without seeing contestants. There is nothing like the looks on their faces when they discover that they passed on someone beautiful or, worse, that they chose someone who looks like a female Perez Hilton.

6 One Love: Had he not left us too soon, this week would have been Bob Marley's 67th birthday. Thousands took Monday off to celebrate, but returned to work the next day unable to elaborate.

7 Toughness test: Raptors star Andrea Bargnani will get paid $9 million this year in salary alone, but has missed 20 per cent of an already shortened season due to a strained calf. I know a guy who lost a testicle and got just one day off. To be fair, though, he sucks at basketball.

8 Freudian slip: True story: 15 years ago, at a Blur concert in London, two of the Spice Girls, Ginger and Sporty, joined the band onstage for a set, only to be thrown off by security guards who didn't know who they were. Fortunately, the girls had learned how to break a fall earlier in their career after several incidents of being "accidentally" thrown off stage.

9 Valentine's Day: This year, forget the dying plants and offer up some soul. Poetry is the potion, but if your repertoire is limited, simply choose some poignant song lyrics. This year, I'm going with LMFAO's "I got passion in my pants and I ain't afraid to show it.... I'm sexy and I know it." Hey — high risk, high reward.

10 And the award goes to: Juno nominations were revealed this week and include Grammy nominees Bieber, Feist, Drake and Arcade Fire, as well as a bevy of future stars. To my American friends I say, "You're welcome."

'Safe' bet for action

Richard Crouse and Steve Gow agree Safe House is pure visceral fun

Poor Ryan Reynolds is chewed up by the acting chops of Denzel Washington

Richard: Steve, for most of the running time, Safe House is a pretty exciting action movie. Things blow up, Denzel is a cool bad guy, but when the movie slows down to try and provide some back story it kind of lost me. What did you think?

Steve: Richard, I agree. Although the film begins with some fairly intense action, for the most part newcomer director Daniel Espinosa has crafted a pretty ordinary thriller. It's got an overabundance of car chases, foot chases and frenetic over-the-top fight scenes that, inasmuch as they seem stolen out of the Bourne series, wears thin pretty quick. Still, that Denzel can steal a scene, can't he?

RC: He sure can, much to the detriment of his costar Ryan Reynolds. Denzel wipes the floor with Reynolds. The tension of the movie comes from Washington. He's a leading man who isn't afraid to explore the evil nature of his characters, and unlike other A-listers like Tom Cruise or Will Smith, who have it written in their contracts that they must be the hero, Washington adds in a heap of moral ambiguity, which keeps things interesting.

SG: Absolutely. Unlike the doomed romantic sub-plot between Ryan Reynolds and a Parisian blondie. I get that Espinosa is trying to add character dimension but it just ends up unnecessary and slows the rest of the film. Besides, Safe House is about visceral action first and foremost and it does deliver there. Almost unrelentingly.

RC: Too bad Green Lantern didn't have action half as good as Safe House. Then there might have been a sequel and we'd all be talking about Reynolds in his green tights instead of how here he is mainly a pile of clichés who barely registers when placed next to the more complex Washington character.

SG: Well, don't expect any sequels here either. In fact, for a story that was touted as one of the best unproduced scripts in Hollywood before it was snapped up, it doesn't push the crooked CIA story any further than we've seen before. Still, Denzel is clearly enjoying himself and I expect most audiences will vicariously join him for the ride.

McG's 'war' of words

Big-talking director McG doesn't hold back while promoting his new film This Means War
Read on to learn what he thinks about homoerotic endings and the MPAA's rules on sex

NED EHRBAR
SCENE@METRONEWS.CA
METRO WORLD NEWS IN HOLLYWOOD

Director McG — previously of the Charlie's Angels movies and Terminator: Salvation — has never shied away from big talk.

And it's a quality he brought with him while promoting his latest, This Means War, an action movie/romantic-comedy hybrid about two CIA agents (Tom Hardy and Chris Pine) battling it out over the same girl (Reese Witherspoon).

Here's a look at some of his more eyebrow-raising statements about his film.

On toning down the film for a PG-13 rating:
"It's funny because it's the prudish, uptight MPAA that's fine with the violent components, but anything that has to do with sexuality — like I had to open up my vein and bleed.

But 'You need to be a bigger liar because your boyfriend's penis is so big that he's getting a penile reduction and every time it lands in my urethra it's like a poltergeist' — who thinks that way? [Cast member] Chelsea [Handler] is out of her f--ing mind and that's why we love her.

"The MPAA was trying to take out all that stuff. We got it back in, but we got to take out a few things. But we retained the authentic comedic stylings of Chelsea Handler."

DAVE HOGAN/GETTY IMAGES

▶ The cast of This Means War poses with director McG at the film's premiere last week in London.

On a lack of diversity in This Means War:
"Listen, that's a huge concern for me, you know? And I can answer that in good faith because I put Lucy Liu in Charlie's Angels.

"I don't like lily-white movies with lily-white people bouncing around, but you also just got to do what you got to do. In the spirit of the Benetton ad rainbow coalition, you know, the most empowered character in the film is indeed a black woman [referring to Angela Bassett's CIA boss].

"I enjoy that the most powerful person in Hollywood is indeed a black woman — Oprah Winfrey. I love ethnic diversity all over the place, but I'm hoping to just transcend beyond that."

On online dating:
"The least you can say is, 'Hey, I'm really into going to bed at 9 o'clock and I like zebras and, you know, role playing.'

"And then you can get after it in that regard and you can narrow it down to some degree."

GARETH CATTERMOLE/GETTY IMAGES

▶ McG

On leading lady Reese Witherspoon:
"She's fearless. She's given birth twice, she can do anything."

On finding the right ending for the movie:
"We wanted to have flexibility.

"We even talked about having two endings and releasing it — if it were on 3,000 screens, 1,500 would have this one, and 1,500 would have that one — and just not say anything.

"There's even an ending where the two boys end up in each other's arms. A homoerotic finish.

"I pussed out on the ending of Terminator 4. I should have gone with the dark ending for that one, so maybe I'll do the dark ending with this one."

Tom Hardy messes with us

- While he's made a name for himself with more serious performances in the likes of Bronson, Warrior and Tinker Tailor Soldier Spy, let it be known that Tom Hardy has a wicked sense of humour.

In fact, he sometimes has trouble answering questions seriously. When asked about the advent of online dating — a key plot point in This Means War, Hardy veers off into an anti-Internet polemic, keeping a straight face the whole time.

"I think it's abhorrent, I think the whole thing is abhorrent," he says. "I think online dating is a way of procuring people, you know what I mean? Like Facebook, Myspace. It's a way that people connect out. And procure small children and sometimes you know, dodgy relationships. I don't think it's very healthy. Online dating is cool, but I think Facebook and Myspace is a little off-key."

- So how does Hardy keep in touch with his own friends? "I don't have any friends," he says, still not cracking. "I like to keep to myself. I have a dog and a son. A dog couldn't do anything to upset me, you know, and neither could my son."

- And as for the film itself, which director McG describes as "impossible to put into a box" because of its mix of action and romantic comedy genres? "I agree with that totally," Hardy says. "But I'm worried about the DVD release now. If we can't fit it in a box, we're f---ed."

Into the dark

Filming Second World War drama took an emotional toll on the cast and crew In Darkness is the true story about a Polish worker who hid a number of Jews in underground sewers

STEVE GOW
SCENE@METRONEWS.CA

In Darkness may have an Academy Award nomination for Best Foreign Language Film but that doesn't necessarily make the wartime drama any easier to watch.

"It wasn't easy to make neither if that's any consolation to you," said acclaimed Polish director Agniezka Holland about the harrowing tale.

"And for the people who survived the story, it was not easy to go through, so I think everybody's on the same boat."

Based on the true story of a Polish worker who hid a number of Jews in underground sewers for 14 months during the Second World War, it is a compelling and emotionally-charged drama that even affected its filmmaker.

"It was why I was hesitating (on doing it)," admitted Holland about the intensity of telling stories that delve into questions about the Holocaust.

"I did two movies connected to the Holocaust and those two productions I did were costly, emotionally-speaking, so I didn't know if I wanted to go again through this process (but) it is a question I ask myself constantly (even if) I am not making a movie about that," said Holland.

In Darkness presented other physical challenges as well.

Drawn by the call to literally shoot a movie in darkness, Holland took her cast and crew into actual Polish sewers to film much of the story.

"Shooting in the sewers was quite intense," said Holland.

"We wanted it to be very real, to express more than describe.

"So to be close with the cast and be with them in this place, in this space and this light ... (but) the biggest challenge was to make it dark but at the same time see what you have to see."

HANDOUT

▶ In Darkness was filmed in actual Polish sewers.

Holland on war

▶ "World War II is probably, in our recent history, the most important event," said Holland. "And it never ended frankly. In some ways we are still living in the aftermath of war's end. The world was, in some way, shaped by that and now we are in the hands of a crisis when it can fall apart again."

The Vow
Genre: Drama
Director: Michael Sucsy
Stars: Rachel McAdams, Channing Tatum, Sam Neill

A serious question: If you awoke in a hospital bed with no memory of how you got there — or your life for the last several years — and were told that you were married to Channing Tatum, would you freak out? Or would you just high-five the nurse?

The reaction of Paige (Rachel McAdams) when faced with that decision in The Vow is not so celebratory, unfortunately. The last thing she remembers is being an uptight, blueberry mojito-drinking yuppie-in-training on her way to a law degree, so it's reasonable that she'd be a bit thrown by her new fashionably bohemian life in an impeccably shabby downtown loft with dopey but dependable musician husband Leo (Tatum). Still, Rachel. Gift horses and all.

Unfortunately, the movie takes its time getting anywhere, meandering for long stretches in the awkwardness of Paige trying to readjust to a life she doesn't remember before retreating back to the comforting familiarity of her wealthy but previously estranged family. Points to director Michael Sucsy for resisting temptations to veer into bigger, more Hollywood romantic territory, as he instead keeps close to the reality of such an unfortunate situation.

But still, you can only watch two people look frustrated for so long, no matter how beautiful they are.

A follow-up to 2008's Journey to the Centre of the Earth, Journey 2 takes an effects-laden 3D look at Jules Verne's The Mysterious Island — a slickly-crafted world full of kooky dwarf elephants and mule-sized bumblebees.

Formulaic and full of familiar characters, this harmless family fare draws on youthful adventure but Dwayne Johnson's annoying pec-popping and deft skills on ukulele still won't keep the sinking Mysterious Island afloat for discerning moviegoers.

Stars: Jean-Pierre Darroussin and Ariane Ascaride
Leftist union leader Michel is laid off at a Marseilles shipyard. Used to power, he now delivers newspapers, bolstered by his loving family. They surprise him with a trip to Africa, but intruders break in, beat him and take the money. Shocking revelations emerge, an arrest is made and two children are left to fend for themselves. It's an unpretentious allegory of forgiveness, compassion and equality based on Victor Hugo's poem How Good are the Poor? that doesn't impose answers.

We Need to Talk About Kevin
Genre: Drama
Director: Lynne Ramsay
Stars: Tilda Swinton, John C. Reilly, Ezra Miller
●●●
Kevin (Miller) has had severe emotional problems all his life. He's cruel, manipulative, rebellious, apparently consumed with hatred targeted at his sister and mother Eva (Swinton). But her husband (Reilly) loves the boy and can't accept her reports of him forcing a pet hamster down the sink food crusher, or injuring his baby sister or masturbating in front of her. Eva is completely isolated and ruled by Kevin. One day, she's proven right when he commits an unthinkable crime. A new kind of suffering begins as the vigilantes and hatemongers show up. Ramsay's raw family portrait focuses on the natural born bully, his power and asks how he came to be. Swinton is transcendent, as always, and her fragile/strong duality is put to good use, but Miller is amazing.

THE IMPORTANT ROLE OF CAMPUS RADIO

SOUND CHECK

ALAN CROSS
SCENE
@METRONEWS.CA

Last weekend, I was asked to be a guest on CKUW, the campus station at the University of Winnipeg, the place I got my start in radio back in 1980. It was chaotic place with barely serviceable equipment and a closed-circuit broadcast radius that encompassed one hallway and one cafeteria.

While in Winnipeg last week, I was asked to participate in CKUW's annual fundraising drive. I hadn't been back since 1983, so I was curious to see how things had changed.

Sheldon, the interviewer, asked, "Can you talk about the importance of campus and community radio today?" Here's what I told him.

ISTOCK PHOTOS

At a time when commercial radio stations are tightening their playlist and sticking with familiar big hits to preserve precious ratings, campus stations have become even more important to the cultural ecosystem. Without having to rely on ratings for revenue, these stations are free to explore the fringes of music.

While the presentation may sometimes be amateurish, the content and intent is terribly important. Want to hear the widest variety of new and cool indie music from a bunch of different genres? Ideas and opinions not found in the mainstream media? Want to really dig into the cultural fabric of your city? The answer in each case is campus radio. Keep this in mind when CKUW and other stations of its kind ask for your support. Write them a cheque. And be generous. You're preserving a vital part of the Canadian cultural ecosystem.

SNORING? SLEEP APNEA?

Often snorers also have sleep apnea which causes being tired all day, high blood pressure, heart attacks, strokes, irregular heartbeats (per FDA website). Millions suffer needlessly and can stop their nightly ordeals.*

To my surprise, after taking Bell Snoring & Sleep Apnea Relief #23 I really didn't snore or gasp for air anymore. I sleep through the night and feel rested and refreshed in the morning. Mark Wilson, 40, Hudson, NH ■ Sleep apnea capsules worked first night! For last 15 years I had sleep apnea and my doctor made me buy a CPAP machine, which I could not use. Finally Bell #23 helped the first night and every night thereafter. Like a miracle. Unbelievable. Karen Braun, 67, Glace Bay, NS ■ For 20 years I was waking up frequently gasping for air. During the day I would start napping every time I would sit down, because I was tired. Since taking Bell #23 sleeping 6 hours is heaven. It made a substantial change in my life. Mary C. Myrick, 62, Jackson, MS ■ It is such a joy not having to use the CPAP machine. I have had sleep apnea for 10 years. Using Bell#23, my wife says there is no more snoring or stoppage of breathing. It is such a joy to be able to roll to left or right with no hose or mask to deal with. Thank you Bell for a great relief. I suggest anyone with these problems to try it. You will be overjoyed with the results. Wayne Burse, 63, Beamsville, ON. ■ Lost my husband because of sleep apnea in 2011. I had sleep apnea, too. I was scared to go to bed and have an heart attack like my husband. After taking Bell #23 I can now sleep for 5-6 hours peacefully without gasping for air. A blessing. Suzie Weigel, 60, Chattanooga, TN No need to make claims. Bell relays 100% truthful user's free speech. No money is paid for it. No questions asked guarantee.

Heartburn Reflux

#39

The USDA now recommends to eat 50% alkaline food (vegetables, legumes, salads, fruit). Health professionals suggest 80% alkaline food. Unfortunately, North American people eat 95% acidic food (meat, noodles, rice, bread, pastries, sweets, junk food). If you cannot change your diet to USDA's 50% or closer to 80% alkaline food, consider to supplement with a natural health product that helps to increase your pH alkaline level close to a healthy 7. Ask for Bell Acidic Stomach/Alkaline Balance #39. It's inexpensive, has no side effects and may eliminate the need for anti-acid pills many people take. As a bonus, an alkaline balanced body prevents many illnesses. See guarantee printed on box. ■ Reflux gave me a sore throat and I could not sing in the church choir anymore. After taking Bell #39 I have no more reflux and rejoice in singing again. Helene Giroux, 65, Quebec, QC ■ Have family history of heartburn. For last 10 years I suffered a lot with acid reflux. I told all family members about #39 being all natural, giving quick relief and having no side effects. Michael Fasheh, 49, Port Ranch, CA ■ Very happy with acid reflux relief. Last 4 years had increasing reflux despite taking anti-acid products. I am also trying to eat more alkaline food. Grzegorz Smirnow, 43, Mt. Prospect, IL ■ Suffered with reflux, choking and coughing. After starting Bell #39 I feel great. Amazed about the complete relief. Thanks from the bottom of my heart. Katarina Tusa, 63, North York, ON ■ Was sleeping sitting up to avoid reflux. I thought I had this health problem for life like my other family members. Bell #39 brought quick relief. Can sleep now normally, have more energy, feel great. Bell products are quite different. Virginia Grant, 67, Markham, ON Skeptics may call anybody. All real people with honest statements.

Grammy nominations don't reflect big year for Canadians

MATT SAYLES/THE CANADIAN PRESS

▶ Drake's album Take Care, which was released in November, is not eligible for Grammy consideration this year.

The Adele factor

- It might not be a bad thing that the Canucks will mostly be on the outside looking in this year. At least this way they don't have to compete with Adele.
- The British crooner with the almighty pipes is expected to win pretty much everything in sight on Grammy night. It's not just that her anguished sophomore record, 21, sold more copies than Kinko's in a year-long residency near the top of the charts.
- But Adele also would seem to occupy the Grammy voter sweet spot. She's young enough that the hip set can hum any of her ubiquitous melodies, but has a retro neo-soul style and handsomely understated production that appeals to older voters.

This past year was one of the best in recent memory for chart-storming Canadian artists, yet you wouldn't know it tuning in to this weekend's Grammy Awards.

But there's no need to raise those patriotic pitchforks. While there was a point in December in which four of the top five slots on the U.S. Billboard charts were occupied by Canadian artists, most of music's Grammy-worthy Canucks were simply fashionably late in 2011.

The eligibility period for this year's awards — to be broadcast Sunday from L.A.'s Staples Center on Global and CBS — ran from Sept. 1, 2010 to Sept. 30, 2011.

Chief among the Grammy shoo-ins who didn't make the cut? Drake, whose innovative slow burn sophomore record Take Care topped critics' polls, earning praise for its flickering, ennui-steeped R&B/hip-hop hybrid. The album opened at No. 1 in the U.S. en route to platinum sales.

The fact that the 25-year-old from Toronto reeled in three nominations anyway — for collaborations with Nicki Minaj, Rihanna and DJ Khaled — suggests that the Recording Academy really, really likes him. But when it comes to Take Care, he'll have to wait for the Grammys to thank him later.

Michael Bublé has a similarly solid track record with the Grammys, having won three trophies over the years.

But while his charmingly retro holiday disc Christmas filled more stockings than the Rockettes last year, it came out in October and just missed Grammy consideration.

While it's tough to tell whether 17-year-old teen-pop sensation Justin Bieber would have been nominated for his own featherweight holiday collection, Under the Mistletoe (the Stratford, Ont., native is a two-time nominee, after all), he also missed the eligibility period by a little over a month.

Ditto divisive hard-rockers Nickelback. Say what you will about the midtempo, midbrow sludge-slingers, they've been nominated for six Grammys in the past. But Here and Now came out in November, when it was "Here and Late" in Grammy terms.

And Feist's Metals was the closest of all, hitting stores on Oct. 4 in the U.S. and Canada. While the contemplative disc lacks the immediate pop splendour of predecessor The Reminder — which earned the Toronto-based songwriter four Grammy nominations in 2008 — the record was praised widely for its inventive instrumentation and sturdy song craft.

But like many of her high-profile compatriots, Feist will just have to wait until next year to find out if Metals is worthy of Grammy attention.

Grammy Awards set to feature first dance music segment

Grammy show producer Ken Ehrlich had considered putting dancing/electronica music into the ceremony in the past, but could never quite figure out how to incorporate the high-energy club feel in front of a sometimes staid audience.

He thinks he's figured it out this year. For the first time, the Grammy show will put the spotlight on the genre with a segment featuring Grammy nominees Deadmau5, the Foo Fighters, Chris Brown, David Guetta and Lil Wayne, all performing in a tent space amid 1,000 fans.

"We decided to go all out this year," Ehrlich said of the performance taking place outside the Staples Center in Los Angeles, where Sunday's ceremony will be held. "All we're going to try and do next week is to try and put the home audience in the middle of it. ... It is more than just sitting there and watching it."

Dance music did not receive its own category until 2003 with the best dance recording/dance field, and the music had not been featured with its own segment in the show.

"I don't know that I figured out a way to do it that felt right until now," Ehrlich said in an interview Monday. "My feeling about dance is it's such an immersive experience for the participant, that to put it on stage ... where the audience is not a part of it ... I don't know, honestly, until we came up with the idea of doing it this way, I don't know if it ever would have worked."

Ehrlich calls the performance the "most ambitious number that we've ever done outside the Staples Center."

It will feature at least four cameras from audience level as Deadmau5 (pronounced dead mouse) and the Foo Fighters perform his remixed version of the band's song Rope, which netted him one of his Grammy nominations, and as Brown and Lil Wayne perform with Guetta.

Other performers on the show include Adele, Bruce Springsteen, Paul McCartney and Taylor Swift for what Ehrlich boasted would be a "pretty amazing show."

"What I try and do when we're building this show is to think about the audience first. ... What can I do that's going to keep an audience for 3 ½ hours watching the Grammy Awards?" he said.

"I do try and look for how broad I can make it and still assume that people are going to tune in and stay with it." THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"As much as a recorded medium that it is, and the fact that it's selling a lot of CDs and downloads, it's really a live experience." GRAMMY SHOW PRODUCER KEN EHRLICH ON DANCE

Let's all wave goodbye to the blond weave

The human Barbie doll look needs to go, says Metro's Dorothy Robinson Lohan look especially bad

THE WORD

DOROTHY ROBINSON
SCENE@METRONEWS.CA

Well, that's it. By appearing at an amfAR gala on Wednesday night in New York City with this rug on her head, Lindsay Lohan has officially killed the blond, wavy, weave look.

But is that such a bad thing? The blond weave has had a good run. (How good did 52-year-old Madonna look with one while performing at Sunday night's Super Bowl?) But the look — it's getting a bit tired, no? Like, we get it: You're a human Barbie doll. Good for you.

Marriage officially over

Well, that was fast. Katy Perry has signed Russell Brand's divorce settlement, reaching an agreement to end their 14-month marriage, according to TMZ.

"The parties have entered into a comprehensive written settlement of all issues, including, without limitation, with respect to the property to be confirmed or assigned to each party," the document reads, outlining that Brand isn't after any of Perry's money.

The former couple insisted their split was amicable, and that's certainly the case if Perry's signature is any indication: She signed the divorce settlement with a little smiley face next to her name.

Courteney Cox can't get a date

Courteney Cox hasn't been having much luck in the romance department since her split from husband David Arquette, she admits in an interview with Howard Stern.

"No guy's asked me out. I'm not saying I'm not ready to have a make-out session, but it just makes me nervous. I don't like to go out in general," she says.

"I have sexual feelings, and there's ways to deal with that."

But Cox admits that dating needs to make its way to the top of her agenda: "It's time for me to get out there. It's not easy to meet people. They don't call me," she explains.

DINNER EXPRESS

EMILY RICHARDS
FOOD@METRONEWS.CA

This fabulous recipe from Daniela Molettieri, winning Canadian student chef of the S. Pellegrino Almost Famous Chef Competition, will surely win over your lover for Valentine's Day!

With two tenderloins, enjoy one and bring one for lunch to let your co-workers know who loves you!

Filet of Veal Stuffed with Wild Mushrooms, served with Butternut Squash and Roasted Hazelnut Purée Preparation:

1 Butternut Squash Purée: Bring squash to boil in salted water 20 mins. or until very soft. Drain well and return to pot. Using potato masher, mash well with butter, salt and pepper. Stir in hazelnuts. Set aside and keep warm.

2 In skillet, melt 1/4 cup (60 mL) of butter over medium high heat; cook mushrooms, shallots, thyme and garlic, stirring occasionally 15 mins. or until liquid has evaporated. Set aside and let cool.

3 Using chef's knife, make incision in centre of tenderloin across middle, not cutting through to the other side. Cut along each side to open more. Stuff with mushroom mix and close. Tie tenderloins with butcher's twine in 2 inch (5 cm) intervals and place seam side down on parchment paper lined baking sheet; sprinkle with half of pepper and salt. Roast in 350 F (180 C) oven 45 mins. or until meat thermometer reaches 150 F (65 C) for medium rare. Rest for before slicing.

4 In saucepan combine dried mushrooms and stock and simmer for 10 minutes. Drain through fine mesh sieve and return stock to saucepan. Whisk in remaining butter and pepper.

5 Spread squash in centre of plate and place veal slices alongside. Spoon sauce along meat to serve. DANIELA MOLETTIERI/ ADAPTED BY EMILY RICHARDS

Ingredients:

- 2 veal or pork tenderloins
- 1/2 cup (125 mL) butter
- 12 oz (375 g) fresh mixed fresh mushrooms, minced
- 4 shallots, minced
- 1 tbsp (15 mL) chopped fresh thyme leaves
- 2 cloves garlic, minced
- 1/4 tsp (1 mL) black pepper
- Pinch salt
- 2 1/2 cups (625 mL) veal or beef stock
- 1 cup (250 mL) dried mushrooms (about 1 oz/30 g)

Butternut Squash and Roasted Hazelnut Puree:

- 1 1/2 lbs (750 g) peeled and cubed butternut squash
- 1/2 cup (125 mL) butter
- Pinch salt and pepper
- 1/3 cup (75 mL) chopped toasted hazelnuts

Want to make your own chocolate this Valentine's Day? Alan Kehl, a hobbyist chocolate-maker from Waterloo, Ont., says the following tools are essential for any serious chocolate-maker:

1. A good thermometer.

2. Scales (for weighing ingredients).

3. A slab of marble (it's best to work with chocolate on a smooth, cool surface).

4. A good set of dipping forks (for dipping the pieces of ganache into chocolate).

With Valentine's Day just around the corner, love is in the air and all over the greeting card racks at your local pharmacy.

While I'm sure most of you love birds will launch a pre-emptive passion play and celebrate Feb. 14 this weekend, I like it when the holiday falls on a Tuesday as it does this year.

A weekday Valentine's means I have an excuse to inject a little spice into an otherwise uneventful late winter evening with some colour coordinated liquid.

A bottle of rosé wine has the right dark pink hue, but mixing a glass of dry still or sparkling white wine with a touch of fruit liqueur looks and tastes sexier.

France's Chambord Royale ($36.75 - $45.99) is a modern take on a Loire Valley-based liqueur made with black raspberries that dates back to the 17th century. Super ripe, its big blast of berry is softened when a teaspoon is mixed with either style of wine.

If simple mixology doesn't sound that attractive, the Chilean sparkler Fresita ($12.90 - $15.99) combines its bubbles with an infusion of hand-picked strawberries. It makes a perfect match with fresh fruit, light- to medium-bodied cheeses and romance.

PRICES REFLECT THE RANGE ACROSS CANADA. SOME PRODUCTS MAY NOT BE AVAILABLE IN ALL PROVINCES.

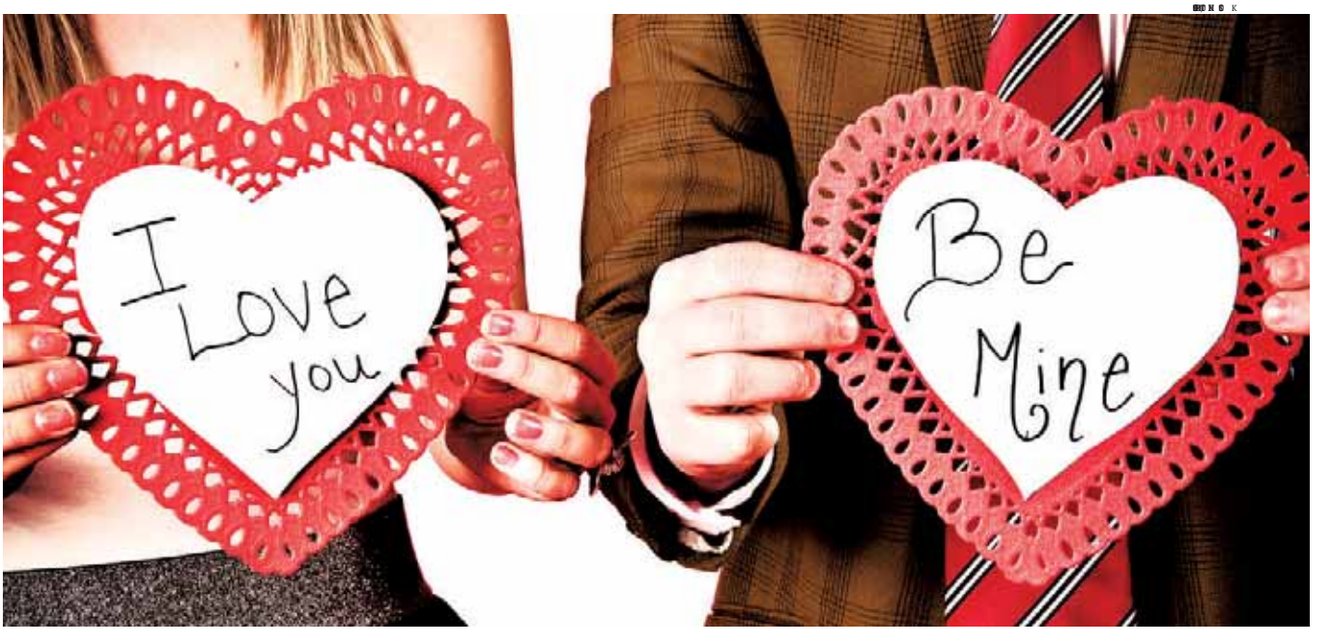
VALENTINE'S DAY! gift guide



Think outside the chocolate box

ASTRID VAN DEN BROEK
FOR METRO

Forget the crammed restaurant with inflated prices. Try something different this Valentine's Day.

"It's a great day to practise what being in a relationship is all about," says Dale Curd, a Toronto-based psychotherapist. Here are some fresh ideas to sample this Feb. 14.

A "learn together" date. "Such as a dance lesson. What you're trying to do is excite your partner's mind and appeal to their heart," says Curd. "And it's not what just one person wants to do. It's something that has you both leaning beyond your edge, as in 'Ooh, I don't know if I could do that.'" Some things to try? Hitting a roller rink together or taking a cooking class. (Have no romantic partner on the horizon? Couple up with a friend or a few pals for a girls or guys night out.)

Surprise your partner with a gift that anticipates their needs — maybe your girlfriend lives off of frozen meals. "Order a meal service for a week for her," says Christine Hart, a Toronto-based dating coach. "So it's something you think your partner is going without right now."

Try the "high/low" concept. Instead of the fancy restaurant meal, pick up yummy ingredients at a farmers' market or grocery store to recreate a meal together at home, she adds. If you are dateless on Valentine's, try this with friends or mixed singles — everyone brings an ingredient (or course) to make the meal together.

Create a new ritual. Skip the heart-shaped box of chocolates and instead fill a basket with different blends of coffee beans and two new mugs. "Then make a point of getting up earlier each morning — before the kids! — to share some java before starting your day," says Debra Macleod, a relationship counsellor in Red Deer, Alta. "Studies show that couples who enjoy such rituals have longer and happier unions."

In the mood for something spicier? Try body sliding. "This is a style of sensual body massage where lovers drench their bare bodies in oil and slide over, under and around each other, sort of an adult slip-and-slide," says Macleod. "Countless studies show that regular, pleasurable sexual intimacy is strongly associated with marital success."

Crank up the relationship heat meter

TANYA ENBERG
FOR METRO

The day of romance is fast approaching and you are scrambling for a last-minute Valentine's Day fix.

OK, relax — you can still make it. Whether you are on a tight budget or money is no object, simplicity is the key to the heart here. Even better? Turning out a thoughtful gesture needn't be complicated.

So breathe, as these last-minute V-Day ideas are guaranteed to quickly crank up the relationship heat meter.

From getting things stirring in the kitchen and clipping sexy coupons, to indulging in mutual massages, the manufactured, sugar-laden celebration of V-Day does offer the perfect excuse to get intimately creative.

If the thought of battling restaurant crowds sounds unappetizing, no problem.

Cooking together is one delicious way to squeeze in quality time while dishing out some serious aphrodisiacs.

Love Potion massage bar, above, $7.95, available at Lush, lush.ca.

The Electrolux Passion For Food Survey out of Australia found that 44 per cent of respondents share "intimate moments" with their partners in the kitchen, and 90 per cent said a partner's ability to whip up a meal was important. The best choices for achieving amorous results include a traditional roast, followed by seafood and steak.

For those pinched for grocery-shopping time or if cooking is not your strength, consider ordering in your partner's favourite meal. Set the mood with candles and music (and be sure to bust out the cloth napkins!)

For time-saving V-Day solutions, go online and book a fun surprise. Sure, planning a fabulous weekend getaway is nice, but they can be costly.

Instead, opt for more budget-friendly solutions by booking a couples' massage, ordering tickets to an upcoming concert, or securing spots in the Thai cooking class you have both been talking about. Package the gift details in a card and, voila, you are set.

Green & Black's Organic Amaretto-Almond Fondue

Ingredients:

- 1 100g Green & Black's Milk Chocolate and Almond bar
- ⅓ cup plus 1 tablespoon water
- 2 tablespoons Amaretto

Preparation:

CONVENTIONAL METHOD

1 Break the chocolate into small pieces and blend in a food processor to break up the whole almonds. The chocolate should resemble bread crumbs. Put in a saucepan with the water.

2 Over low heat, stir with a small wire whisk until ingredients are smooth and combined. Add the Amaretto and stir.

3 If the resulting sauce is too thick, add a few drops of water and whisk to blend.

4 Serve with desired fruit and nuts. If fondue becomes cool and thick, microwave for 10 seconds and stir. Repeat if necessary.

MICROWAVE

1 Break the chocolate into small pieces and blend in a food processor to break up the whole almonds. Place in a heat-safe bowl with the water.

2 In a microwave, melt chocolate in 10-20 second intervals, whisking in between. Do this until blended and warm.

SUGGESTED DIPPABLES: Strawberries, peach slices, grapes and almonds. Makes 2-3 servings.

Green & Black's Organic Dishwasher Chocolate Martini

Ingredients:

- 750 ml bottle Vodka
- 2 100g Green & Black's Dark 70% chocolate bars
- 2 teaspoons sugar syrup
- ¼ teaspoon vanilla extract
- Ice

Preparation:

MAKING THE CHOCOLATE VODKA

1 Prepare the chocolate vodka several hours in advance or the night before. Pour 250 ml of vodka reserving for later. This will leave 500 ml in the bottle.

2 Break up the chocolate and feed into the bottle, reserving some chocolate for garnish. This should bring the vodka back to the level when it was full. Make sure to not overfill as the liquor will expand a little in the dishwasher. Put the lid back on and wrap Saran Wrap around the lid and bottle neck.

3 Place the bottle in the dishwasher and run it through a normal wash cycle. This will melt the chocolate into the vodka. After the wash cycle give the bottle a good shake. If the chocolate is not fully melted run the wash cycle a second time.

4 Once the chocolate is fully melted, allow the vodka to cool down at room temperature. Place the bottle in the freezer for a few hours or leave overnight.

MAKING THE MARTINI

1 Fill your martini glass with ice to chill. Grate the reserved chocolate onto a large plate.

2 In a cocktail shaker, pour 70 ml of chocolate vodka. Add the sugar syrup and vanilla extract and a handful of ice. Shake vigorously.

3 Discard the ice from the glass. Dip the rim of the glass into the grated chocolate and double sieve the martini into the glass and serve. Makes 10 servings.

TIPS:
The amount of sugar syrup you add should be according to your taste. Substitute vodka with gin or white rum.

Offensive surge sinks Leafs

Giroux, Schenn score two quick goals in second period to put Flyers ahead for good

FLYERS	LEAFS

Claude Giroux and Brayden Schenn scored 1:14 apart in the second period to lift the Philadelphia Flyers to a 4-3 victory over the Toronto Maple Leafs on Thursday night in Philadelphia.

Scott Hartnell and Max Talbot also had goals for Philadelphia, which snapped a three-game losing streak.

Tyler Bozak scored two goals and Joffrey Lupul had one for the resurgent Leafs, who were 6-2-1 in their previous nine games.

Coming off a 1-0 shootout loss to the New York Islanders on Tuesday night, the Flyers needed this victory to strengthen their hold on fourth place in the Eastern Conference.

Sergei Bobrovsky made 24 saves, including a pad stop on Bozak's hard shot during a 4-on-2 rush with five minutes left.

The teams changed their pace after a slow-moving first period and combined for six goals in the second, including three in the first six minutes.

Giroux put the Flyers ahead to stay when he fired a shot into the top right corner. Jaromir Jagr set it up with a perfect pass from the side of the net to Giroux, who scored his 21st goal.

Schenn then made it 4-2 when he scored into a wide-open net after Danny Briere's shot from the right wing hit James Reimer's right shoulder and ricocheted to the left circle.

Bozak answered, scoring his second goal with 1:51 left in the period to cut it to 4-3. He put in a rebound in front with traffic surrounding Bobrovsky.

The Flyers stiffened defensively and held on.

In a matchup of two of the NHL's top three scorers, Phil Kessel had two assists, but Giroux had the difference-maker. Pittsburgh's Evgeni Malkin leads the league with 62 points, Giroux has 61 and Kessel 60.

Game notes

Joffrey Lupul hadn't scored 20 goals in a season since getting 25 for the Flyers in 2008-09.

- Phil Kessel has nine points in four games.
- The Leafs killed four penalties and each of the last 28 power plays against them. They haven't allowed a man-advantage goal in 17 games, the NHL's longest streak since Chicago had a 19-game run in the 1969-70 season.

A fluke goal by Bozak just 54 seconds in started the scoring barrage in the second period. Bozak's shot bounced off Flyers defenceman Braydon Coburn's skate and went in.

Just 2:38 later, Talbot deflected a slap shot by Andrej Meszaros past Reimer.

Lupul then scored a power-play goal to tie it 2-2. Dion Phaneuf's shot bounced out of Bobrovsky's glove, and Lupul put it in for his 22nd goal.

Hartnell gave the Flyers a 1-0 lead with 5:22 left in the first period. Erik Gustafsson's shot hit Jagr, and the puck trickled to Hartnell, who shot it through Reimer's legs. Hartnell immediately turned around, exchanged words with Phaneuf and the two dropped their gloves.

Talk of grass for Jays 'premature'

Argonauts president not fazed about lease issue at Rogers Centre as Jays explore replacing artificial turf

The Toronto Blue Jays are investigating natural grass at Rogers Centre, but a club spokesman says suggestions of a move away from artificial turf are premature.

Jay Stenhouse, the Blue Jays vice-president of communications, said Thursday the club has discussed the matter for some time but continues to look into the costs involved and what impact it would have on the stadium's ability to stage the wide variety of events it currently does.

"It's something that's being investigated," Stenhouse said. "There are a lot of factors that would play into it.

"Things are still in the investigation stage. It's little premature for people to be guessing at this point."

Blue Jays president and CEO Paul Beeston told season-ticket holders on Jan. 30 that the club was considering the installation of grass for baseball games at Rogers Centre, but also added fans shouldn't get their hopes up. Still, Beeston's declaration was enough to prompt suggestions that such a development would force the CFL's Toronto Argonauts to look for an alternate venue when their current lease expires after this season.

Roughly the number of hours needed to convert Rogers Centre from baseball to football

That's because, according to reports, in order to sustain a grass field, the section of seats along the first- and third-base sides for baseball would have to be anchored in place and unable to move to accommodate a football configuration. Essentially, that would make Rogers Centre a baseball-only facility from April through October and force the Argos to look for a new home as early as next season.

But Stenhouse said the Blue Jays haven't made any definitive decisions about the playing surface at Rogers Centre.

Argos president Chris Rudge said while he has met with Rogers Centre officials about a new lease, the CFL club has always kept its stadium options open.

"We're always looking at what our alternatives might be regardless of whether this situation arose or not," he said. "The bigger issue we've been facing for many years is whether or not the Rogers Centre will allow us to create the kind of compelling football experience our fans would like."

mon chere, words may deceive but eyes dont lie. mind was made when we first met. lets not delay destiny any more. DEVDAS

The woman who drove me to work Feb 9: You told me you had just driven your grandchildren to work and passed me twice and needed to stop and offer a ride. Just wanted to say thanks again. Nice to know there are still good people out there :) A GRATEFUL GIRL

55Cartier412, A year ago today, you chose to walk into my life and you chose to walk out just as quickly. It was just too easy for you, yet one year later, you are all I think of! I decided to follow through on what I said I'd do. You won't get your package. I've decided, if I am wrong, it won't matter...I'll get the return. It's what I need to do so I can accept truth. 633NORTH108

Today's horoscope

For today's crossword answers and for expanded horoscopes, go to metronews.ca

♈ Aries March 21-April 20
It's a good thing you like surprises because there will be plenty today and over the weekend.

♉ Taurus April 21-May 21
Someone you think is a friend may in fact be harbouring a grudge, so keep your eyes and ears open.

♊ Gemini May 22-June 21
Today and tomorrow, many strange things will happen to make you wonder if there is more to life than what your five senses tell you.

♋ Cancer June 22-July 22 You need to break free of habits that hold you back from realizing your potential. Time for change.

♌ Leo July 23-Aug.23
Try something you have never done before. The last thing you need is to get stuck in a rut.

♍ Virgo Aug. 24- Sept. 22
Don't try to hang on to things that are being taken away from you. You're better off without them.

♎ Libra Sept. 23-Oct. 23
You will meet someone today who inspires you to do more with your life. You will also inspire others.

♏ Scorpio Oct. 24-Nov. 22
Unexpected changes will throw you out of your stride for a bit, but a Scorpio is never in limbo for long. You'll regain confidence soon.

♐ Sagittarius Nov. 23-Dec. 21 This is a hugely positive time for creative endeavors, so don't sit waiting for life to come to you.

♑ Capricorn Dec. 22-Jan. 20
Someone with whom you are close will do something that shocks you. He or she is entitled to be different.

♒ Aquarius Jan. 21-Feb. 18
You will get the red carpet treatment today. But be selective where invitations are concerned. You're popular but can't be everywhere.

♓ Pisces Feb. 19-March 20 Colleagues may need some convincing that what you are planning is a good idea. SALLY BROMPTON
